*It would not normally be expected that the role of a Church Warden requires Leadership training, however if the parish is in Vacancy, or if the Church Warden leads services, they will be required to complete their Leadership training.

 There are some holders of the title 'Director of Music' within small parish churches, where their role does not include many of the responsibilities connected with that of a Cathedral Director of Music. Therefore, all directors of music should be assigned an appropriate training level dependent on their job role rather than job title.

 The role, responsibility and influence of group leaders varies across parishes. If the group leader can "significantly influence the culture of that Church body" they must complete the Leadership module.

* Work with the Suffolk Guild of Ringers continues to add clarification for all Bell Tower Captains. As with directors of Music, their job role varies from parish to parish therefore their required level of training is determined by job description rather than job title.

✓ R It is recommended that people in this role complete this level of training. This is a recommendation and not a mandatory requirement.
